

Private Facts for the Actor, Hung Lee

While actor Hung Lee is a relatively new actor, he feels that he must establish his presence as a Hollywood big shot since his last film was an overnight sensation. He was featured in an article in People magazine last month as "One to Watch." The article predicted that Lee will be Hollywood's next sex symbol so long as he gets involved in the right productions.

Lee is a long time fan of Lovelace's work. He met Louis Lovelace at a party earlier this year and learned about Lovelace's intention to produce a Hollywood feature. He sees the opportunity to work with Lovelace on this project as a chance to establish himself as a sex symbol. Lee also likes Tommy Clance's storyline. Unfortunately, Lee has gotten a reputation in the industry for being a pain to work with. He has yet to find a project that is interested in bringing him on as a star.

There is a scene in the movie, "Bedroom Booty," that Lee thinks is a perfect opportunity to show his sexual prowess. He hopes that the scene is tastefully done, but also has an opportunity to act. He thinks that this scene will be his ticket to the top.

He'd also like to promote the movie on Howie Sterno. He thinks that acting a scene out with Sterno and Sterno's co-host will be the exposure that will push him into sex symbol status. Regardless of which talk show the film is promoted on, Lee is interested in choosing the clips that are used to promote the movie on talk shows. He'd like a promise that he may select a portion of the "Bedroom Booty" scene to use for a clip. Compensation and creative control aren't as important to Lee as his ability to establish himself as a sex symbol through controlling some of the promotion of the movie.

Lee would also like to be paid 8% of profits, and have the following demands/perks - a cost equivalent to about 2% gross profits:

- Largest dressing room/trailer, with clean lavatory, linens, and outside phone line
- Hummer Limo with driver who knows the area, especially the door-to-door route from the hotel to the studio dressing room
- Food catered by grade a chef available to take orders while the talent is on set. No cooking will be done with margarine, butter, or Crisco. Only EXTRA VIRGIN olive oil should be used. -- Remember allergies kill
- Doctor on staff to administer a daily B-12 shot
- High Definition TV with Nintendo w/ 4 controllers and assortment of games
- (1) Ionic Breeze Quadra
